

Scott Earl Smith is a widely published Canadian writer and author. His work has appeared in numerous fly fishing and outdoor publications across the continent. He is the author of Ontario Blue-Ribbon Fly Fishing Guide; Canadian editor for Fly Fish America, one of the largest fly fishing magazines on the continent; regional editor for The Canadian Fly Fisher; and columnist for the Outdoors Guide. Scott's experience in fly fishing has brought him to numerous wild and wonderful destinations throughout North America. He is an experienced guide, speaker and conservationist. Scott lives in Thunder Bay Ontario with his wife, Antonietta and their three adult children – all accomplished fly anglers. Scott is a 26-year veteran of the Thunder Bay Police Service. He is presently a staff sergeant, and specializes in professional standards and leadership development. His leadership, communication skills and personal skills are welcome assets to Wilderness North.

***